pursuant to 28 U.S.C. §§ 1331 and 1343(a)(3). This Court has jurisdiction under 28 U.S.C. § 1367 over Plaintiff's state law claims, as they are so related to the federal claims in this action that they form a part of the same case or controversy under the Constitution and laws of the United States.

VENUE

5. Venue is proper under 28 U.S.C. § 1391(b)(2) because a "substantial part of the events or omissions giving rise to the claim[s] occurred" in this district. This Court is authorized to grant declaratory relief under 28 U.S.C. §§ 2201 and 2202, and injunctive relief pursuant to Rule 65 of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure.

34.

Even before the May 4 and May 6 incidents, J.W.'s parents had serious concerns about Reed's public safety policies. On a number of occasions, school officials failed to protect J.W. from bullying, isolated him from his peers, placed him in a class room with students more than twice his age and size, and exposed him to poorly trained school police officers who carry guns inside the elementary school. J.W.'s parents met with school officials several times to voice their concerns about the safety and well-being of their child. On several occasions before the May 4 and May 6 incidents, school officials agreed to reform their practices, but they reportedly his son had been handcuffed to a chair, Defendant Burnett responded defiantly "That's what he was—right."

In response to Mr. Weston's request to Defendant Burnett that she cease the 39. practice of seizing, arresting and detaining his son, Defendant Burnett advised the father: "[t]hen May 6. Defendant Burnett did not decide to suspend the first grader until his father made it clear that he intended to hold her and her staff accountable for violating J.W.'s rights.

- 50. IACP policy states that "officers may use only the level of force that is objectively reasonable to bring an incident under control."
- 51. The IACP policy focuses on the importance of graduated sanctions in the treatment of youth and it discourages the use of enforcement mechanisms typically used with adults—like handcuffs and shackles—on young children.

chair. Similarly, an objectively reasonable school principal and school police officer know that it is unlawful to subject students to arrests and seizures solely for the purpose of punishment, humiliation and intimidation.

57. Under Louisiana Law, six-year-old children cannot be arrested or held liable for violations of the criminal code. La. R.S. 14:13. Thus, it is clear that the Reed Defendants lacked

These Defendants have also pledged to enforce this policy against all Reed students who violate minor school rules. The District Defendants have ultimate responsibility for ensuring that Recovery School District schools operate in compliance with state and federal law. The District that school police officers lacked the training necessary to comply with the law. A 2006 news article documented the school police officers' lack of training. Stephon Maloney, New Orleans High Schools Face Tensions. New Orleans City Business, November 6, 2006.

66. Lisa Thurau is the Executive Director of a group called Strategies for Youth. She is a well-renowned national expert on improving the quality of police and youth interactions. From 2007-2009, Ms. Thurau sent numerous letters to the RSD Superintendent and the Director of Security in which she described accounts of RSD security staffs' use of unreasonable arrests and aronairraly interestive estimates. The oracle these letters. Mr. Thurson offened has testining and
