Following its enactment, on July 16, 2019, Plaintiffs initiated this action for declaratory and injunctive relief against Defendants challenging the constitutionality of numerous provisions of SB 168. See (&) 1 R > @ ³ & R P &) O D R Q W @ ³ $ a ~ N s ' a t P ä R P S O D L Q W &

On August 30, 2019, Plaintiffs filed an Amended Motion for Preliminary Injunction seeking to enjoin Defendants from implementing the Detainer Mandate, Best Efforts Provision, and Sanctuary Provisions. ECF No. [47]. On September 26, 2019, the Court held a hearing on the Amended Motion for Preliminary Injunction, during which parties argued their respective positions. On October 1, 2019, the Court granted in part and denied in part the motion, (1) denying Plaintiffs' request for preliminary injunction against the Detainer Mandate, Best Efforts Provision, and Sanctuary Provisions, and (2) granting Plaintiffs' request to preliminarily enjoin the Transport Requirements. ECF No. [64].

Moreover, on September 4, 2019, Defendants filed a Motion to Dismiss arguing that Plaintiffs lacked standing to bring many of their claims and that the Amended Complaint failed to state a claim upon which relief can be granted on any asserted basis. ECF No. [52]. On December 1, 2019, the Court denied Defendants' Motion to Dismiss.

Plaintiffs seek summary judgment on Counts II, X, and XI of the Amended Complaint each of the remaining claims in this case and seek declaratory and injunctive relief arguing that they are entitled to judgment as a matter of law on these claims. Plaintiffs contend that summary judgment is warranted on their Equal Protection claims because evidence conclusively establishes SB 168's underlying discriminatory purpose and discriminatory effect. Specifically, Plaintiffs take the position that the discriminatory intent of SB 168 is evidenced by the fact that bill sponsors relied extensively on the assistance and input from known anti-immigrant hate groups in working to pass the bill and even included their biased data.

Equal protection claims can be divided into three broad categories. The first and most common type is a claim that a statute discriminates on its face. In such a case, a plaintiff can prevail by showing that there is no rational relationship between the statutory classification and a legitimate state goal. When the statute facially discriminates against certain groups or trenches upon certain fundamental interests, courts have required a closer connection between the statutory classification and the state purpose.

The second type of equal protection claim is that neutral application of a facially neutral statute has a disparate impact. In such a case, a plaintiff must

B. Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment

As noted, the Defendants' Motion for Summary Judgment is granted in part and denied in part.

Equal Protection claims and their claim that the Transport Requirement is conflict preempted.

1. Equal Protection

Defendants first argue that because either the Best Efforts Provision nor the Sanctuary Prohibition of SB 168 violate the Equal Protection Clause, summary judgment is warranted. The Court finds that neither provision violates the Equal Protection Clause. SB 168 was enacted to combat discriminatory practices that discriminate against individuals based on their race or ethnicity. The Best Efforts Provision requires law enforcement agencies to make reasonable efforts to transport individuals to their place of residence or to a place of safety if they are in danger. This provision does not discriminate based on race or ethnicity. It is a general provision that applies to all individuals regardless of race or ethnicity. The Sanctuary Prohibition, on the other hand, does not discriminate based on race or ethnicity. It prohibits law enforcement agencies from inquiring about an individual's immigration status or from detaining individuals based on their immigration status. This provision does not discriminate based on race or ethnicity. It is a general provision that applies to all individuals regardless of race or ethnicity.

a. Sequence of Events & Departures from the Norm¹⁵

Defendants first argue that the evidence Plaintiffs present on the specific sequence of drafting SB 168 is insufficient as a matter of law because it fails to indicate any discriminatory intent. For this factor, Defendants note that although Plaintiffs have relied significantly on) / , 0 (1 ¶ \mail to Senator Bean on December 13, 2016, No. 16-5], which attached model legislation similar to the language of SB 168, Plaintiffs fail to recognize that Senator Bean had previously introduced a bill prohibiting sanctuary policies with similar wording. Clause Moreover, Defendants argue that, contrary to Plaintiffs' claims, SB 168 will not lead to increased racial profiling by law enforcement officers because SB 168 contains an explicit provision that prohibits discrimination. See Fla. Stat. § 908.109.

For their part, Plaintiffs rely on declarations and deposition testimony of the organization representatives which describe the disproportionate impact that SB 168 has on minorities. See, e.g., D.L.Q. at 114-15 (collective citations to exhibits). Plaintiffs also point to the extensive statistical data presented in Q. 1 U / L.F.K.W. and Q. 1 U / L.F.K.W. deposition which describe the negative effects of anti-sanctuary policies, proactive policing policies, and immigration partnerships between ICE officers and local law enforcement agencies. See, e.g., ECF No. [1091]. Finally, Amici Curiae submitted a brief in support of Plaintiffs in this case that provided the Court with valuable and informative evidence on how like SB 168 has

With regard to the remaining statements that Defendants argue fail as a matter of law, the Court cannot fully assess, at this stage, whether such statements rise to the ~~suspecting~~ racial animus on the part of the entire legislative body. ~~The~~ Resolution of outstanding factual questions like

Moreover, Plaintiffs contend that the bill sponsors also departed from the substantive norms by providing Senate staff analysis that relied on biased data supporting the ban on sanctuary cities that was produced by FAIR and CIS, and the issue of this flawed data was raised at a Senate committee meeting. Despite being alerted that these organizations were characterized as anti-immigrant hate groups, Plaintiffs point out that a few weeks later, the sponsors of SB 168 nonetheless hosted a press conference with FLIMEN and other known xenophobic groups. Plaintiffs thus contend that this cumulative evidence, along with additional circumstantial evidence, warrants granting judgment as a matter of law on the issue of discriminatory intent.

However, as Defendants point out, the evidence in the record contains many contradictions to the factual assertions recited above, thus creating genuine issues of material fact. In construing all facts in the light most favorable to Defendants, and in drawing all reasonable inferences in favor of the non-movants, the Court concludes that the record evidence does not establish significant disputes of fact, which are more appropriately submitted for resolution by a trier of fact. [1103] & [110-4]. The ultimate resolution of this issue turns on nuanced credibility determinations and weighing of evidence, which cannot be done at summary judgment.

Moreover, turning to the erroneous inclusion of data produced by FAIR and CIS on sanctuary policies within the Senate staff analysis, Defendants note the complete absence of evidentiary support establishing that either the Legislature as a whole, or even a single legislator, mistakenly relied on this improper data in deciding on SB 168. Nor do Plaintiffs indicate that the data was of any significance in the ultimate decision to pass SB 168. Arlington Heights 429

Indeed, § 1357(g)(1) specifically grants the power to local governments to regulate the transport of undocumented immigrants because it renders the express language in § 1357(g)(1) on the transport of aliens pursuant to a 287(g) Agreement meaningless. Likewise, the mandate requiring law enforcement officers to obtain prior judicial authorization does not rectify the issue of unilateral conduct. Instead, this judicial authorization requirement seeks to vest additional powers in the state judiciary that could only be
