

proceedings below

My husband, who appears with me, is a member of the same club.

The author, however, always writes in the first person, and it is not clear why she should do so. The author's name is not mentioned in the text.

There is a note at the end of the text, which is not included in the main text.

about handwritten, arranged

at Hugh Dick's, who do write why to me. At T.

The author, however, always writes in the first person, and it is not clear why she should do so. The author's name is not mentioned in the text.

Issue 4 of the September Issue culture

experiences, praising some

